

ADDING COURSES

Courses may be added only during the official add period. Please refer to the University Registrar's Calendar for official add period dates for the standard semester and summer terms.

In rare cases, the Graduate School may authorize a student to enroll in a course after the census date in a given term. Effective dates are not altered. For courses scheduled outside the standard term dates, proportional deadlines are similarly applied.