About

The Department of Communication Sciences and Disorders (CSD) offers a two-year master's degree program in Speech Language Pathology. The M.A. in Speech-Language Pathology (SLP) is a nationally ranked program, accredited by the American Speech-Language Hearing Association's Council on Academic Accreditation in Audiology and Speech-Language Pathology. Our undergraduate, pre-professional program prepares students with a background in speech, language, and hearing sciences, and in speech, language, and hearing disorders in anticipation of their continued studies at the graduate level.
